Orange Wednesday 2 for 1 Pizza and film is getting very popular with 12 people coming along in November 2009, so much so, that my poor mental arithmetic is starting to show! Now a regular event, it is missed when it doesn't happen. Gordon was most upset that pizza was not included on 18th December 2009 when we saw Law Abiding Citizen. I think the choice of film makes a difference to numbers, and will try to provide some choices for people to choose from in the future.

I really enjoyed the outdoor cinema at Sir Harold Hillier Gardens; it was a different way to watch a film. I would like to organise again, but consensus is not Mama Mia!

I think the White Star Wine Club seemed like such a great idea in principle, unfortunately the poor food let the night down, but hey thanks to Karen Unwin, we went back and it was a great meal. I think the Sunday Jazz session worked really well, it was a very relaxing day, with people coming and going as they pleased. It was so nice to have time to chat and catch up with everyone. Definitely to be repeated.

Pub golf was a good night, though I don't think many of us could stomach more than once a year!
